SILBERSALZ²⁰

SILBERSALZ is the window into the world of science and science media for curious minds of all ages. Immerse yourself in four days of exchange with renowned international scientists, media experts and artists; a cutting-edge film program; workshops; inspiring keynote; an interactive exhibition with state-of-the-art technology and exceptional live events.

The SILBERSALZ Science and Media Pitch is one of the highlights of SILBERSALZ. This innovative pitching forum is open to submissions from scientists, science journalists and media professionals looking to develop their concepts into specialist factual content and interactive experiences.

We're interested in contemporary global stories about discoveries and innovations across all technological and scientific disciplines.

Ten projects will be selected. The pitching teams will receive crucial feedback from international investors, media experts and science institutions. They may even find their future partners in the field of science or the media industry!
